THE BUSINESS MEN MULT WOLK

McLean's Election Would Be a Menace to Present Prosperity and Business Men Must Not Overlook That Fact. The Lesson of 1802 Should Not Go of the present empaign. The American Israelite says:

"This fall the campaign in Ohio is looked upon by careful students of the situation as the preliminary battle of the national canvass in 1900. As such its effect on business is certain to be far reaching and important. If the American people reverse their judgfree silver plank of the Zanesville plat- panion. form, and thus virtually repudiate President McKinley's administration backs upon the prosperous conditions that now exist-there is good reason for believing that the business effect will be immediate and serious.

"For these reasons business men can not afford to seem indifferent to the election three weeks hence. They have too much at stake. Busy though they are and rushed with orders as they have not been in many years, it is important that they still give the time character from the County Judge of and attention necessary to a thorough the county where they last resided. expression of their interest and exert their influence actively for the election of the Republican nominee for governor, and the entire Republican state

"The high character of Judge Nash, the Republican gubernatorial candidate, no less than the principles for which he stands, should commend him to every thoughtful voter.

"There is a disposition on the part of some business men to feel that the large interests of Mr. McLean make him a safe candidate from a business standpoint. We have no word of critielsm of Mr. McLean, but the men who take this view should consider that in 1892, the same feeling was widely expressed by a large class of business men. How certainly the results disproved their opinions it is not necessary to discuss.

'We do not mean to compare Mr. McLean and Mr. Cleveland, but the effect of Mr. McLean's election, it seems to us, would endanger existing prosperity. In any event the sensible view is that it is best to let well enough alone. No one wishes a change in business conditions. There is no occasion for any change in po-The present litical administration. policies of the nation are honorable and the administration, for the most part, clean. We believe that this is the general sentiment of the people. "The only danger is that business men in the flood tide of prosperity will lose sight of the necessity for exerting their influence as fully and as earnestly as if the result were a national instead of a state campaign, and overlook the wide influence the result in Ohio will have upon the nation."
